1. WHAT MAKES THIS FUND UNIQUE?

onemarkets BlackRock Global Dynamic Equity Opportunities Fund can offer several attractive characteristics for an equity investor:

- It's a strategy that can combine fundamental research with thematic exposures: seeking "fast rivers" of cash flows<sup>7</sup> (the so to say companies that are capable to generate an important cash flow in the short term), but at the same time taking also exposure to long term structural trends.
- By investing without any bias, the fund can offer an unconstrained search of opportunities providing the team with the flexibility to refine the portfolio to evolving market conditions over time.
- The Global Allocation team is one of the most experienced and recognised investment teams at BlackRock<sup>8</sup>, with more than USD 50 bn of assets under management around the world. The size and experience of this team allows it to uniquely maximise BlackRock's worldwide investment resources, technology and risk management capabilities.

3. WHAT IS THE INVESTMENT PROCESS?

- Our investment process leverages the breadth of BlackRock's global macro resources as well as the depth and experience of the Global Allocation team.
- The process integrates macro, industry, and security selection insights, as well as sustainability, so as to budget risk to the highest quality sources of extra returns (alpha sources<sup>9</sup>).
- Through rigorous macroeconomic research, we seek to identify prevailing macro regimes; by determining the drivers, direction, and pace of regime changes.
- Asset allocation decisions are shaped based on the identified regime; sophisticated regional and industry analysis helps guide security selection process by striving to identify areas of highest investment opportunity.
- Then, fundamental analysts apply intensive bottom-up<sup>10</sup> research, supported by the specialised expertise of colleagues in local markets, to identify high conviction investment opportunities.

<sup>7</sup>Cash flow refers to the net balance of cash moving into and out of a business at a specific point in time. Cash is constantly moving into and out of a business. For example, when a retailer purchases inventory, money flows out of the business toward its suppliers.

<sup>9</sup>Alpha refers to excess returns earned on an investment above the benchmark return when adjusted for risk. Active portfolio managers seek to generate alpha in diversified portfolios, with diversification intended to eliminate unsystematic risk.

<sup>10</sup>Bottom-up investing is an investment approach that focuses on analysing individual stocks and de-emphasises the significance of macroeconomic and market cycles. Bottom-up investors focus on a specific company and its fundamentals, whereas top-down investors focus on the industry and economy.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

CHANCES

- Convertible Contingent Bonds (Cocos) allow the Portfolio Manager to receive interest payments that are generally much higher than traditional bonds.
- High-yield bonds are corporate debt securities that generally pay higher interest rates than the bonds issued by Companies with higher credit score (Investment Grade). They play a diversification role in the portfolio and in certain economic framework they can help generate positive income.
- Hedging a position is usually done to protect or insure against the adverse price movement risk of an asset.
- Emerging Markets offer the potential for competitive returns over the long term, across a variety of countries and industries, and represent an important diversifier for investors.
- The fund offers the possibility to participate to equity market growth in the long-term horizon.
- Active management is an approach to investing. In an actively managed portfolio, the portfolio manager selects the investments that make up the portfolio. Active management has benefits, such as the ability to adjust to market conditions, and the opportunity for diversification.
- Companies that lead in terms of sustainable operations and activities might benefit from structural drivers such as legislative and regulatory actions aimed at solving sustainability challenges, and an increase in demand along more sustainable consumption patterns.

RISKS

- Convertible Contingent Bonds (Cocos) are a form of contingent hybrid securities that behave like debt securities in normal circumstances but which either convert to equity securities or have write-down. A write-down means that some or all the principal amount of the (Cocos) bond will be written down.
- Certain high-yielding bonds are very speculative and involve comparatively greater risks than higher quality securities issued by higher quality Companies (Investment Grade bond). The securities ranked as high yield can have a higher incidence of default and they are less liquid in respect to Investment Grade bonds.
- The Fund may invest in instruments, such as derivatives, that might not fulfil their obligations in the future, exposing the relevant sub-funds to financial losses in the process.
- Investments in bonds are subject to the risk that the issuer cannot meet their obligations in terms of paying the interest and / or redeeming the principal on maturity (credit risk).
- Emerging markets are less established than developed markets and therefore involve higher risks, particularly market, liquidity, currency risks and interest rate risks, and the risk of higher volatility.
- The prices of the equity may fluctuate significantly as they depend on general economic and political circumstances.
- The value of investments in bonds and other debt securities or derivative instruments may rise or fall sharply as interest rates fluctuate.
- If the Sub-Fund invests in other UCITS / UCIs, it may incur a second layer of investment fees, which will further erode any investment gains.
- In periods of market instability, the Fund may be required to realise assets at a price that does not reflect their intrinsic value.
- The integration in the investment process of ESG and sustainability factors with wider monitoring and engagement activities, may have an impact on the value of investments and, therefore, on returns.
