

onemarkets BlackRock Low Duration Bond Fund

a Sub-Fund of onemarkets Fund

FUND CHARACTERISTICS

- IT IS DESIGNED FOR EUROPEAN INVESTORS
onemarkets BlackRock Low Duration Bond Fund is a Fixed Income fund that invests predominantly in euro-denominated securities. The solution uses strategy to avoid the euro-dollar exchange rate hedging costs without sacrificing the level of diversification or return.
- FLEXIBLE APPROACH TO CREDIT MARKETS
One of the most distinctive features of the fund is its flexibility. In an environment where interest rates can change rapidly, flexible duration management, which can take values from -2 to +2 years, makes this instrument attractive to take advantage of the macroeconomic and credit environment, with the aim of protecting investors from interest rate movements.
- TWO ALPHA SOURCES TO IDENTIFY OPPORTUNITIES
Using relative value¹ and non-traditional bond strategies (such as Asset Backed Securities or Mortgage Back Securities), along with a traditional unconstrained approach, the fund aims to maximise returns with lower volatility.

1. WHAT MAKES THIS FUND UNIQUE?

a. Alternative sources of yield aiming to better risk-adjusted returns

The investment team has built the fund with the goal of maximising returns, using both traditional and non-traditional bond strategies, mainly using "relative value" strategies, i.e., strategies that allow exploiting price anomalies by buying undervalued securities and selling overvalued securities to generate a profit. This should reduce correlation with traditional asset classes and can limit losses during market reversals by containing average volatility. Relative value investment approach also aims to deliver positive return across the cycle.

b. Flexibility and high credit quality⁵ onemarkets BlackRock Low Duration Bond Fund is a low duration bond fund that flexibly manages duration. It is not stuck with a static 2-year duration like a typical short duration bond fund, but it has the possibility to take duration negative during periods of rising rates, managing actively in response to the market environment. The fund has no benchmark, and this means that the strategy can potentially flexibly manage across the asset classes based on the opportunity in today's environment. The average overall fund rating is A- or higher, which means a high-quality exposure for investors.

2. HOW IS THE INVESTMENT PROCESS?

BlackRock's investment approach represents a collaboration between Portfolio Teams which are accountable for performance, responsible for setting the top-down⁶ asset allocation framework and portfolio construction in their respective product areas, and Global Sector Specialist teams, which are made up of sector specialists and research analysts responsible for bottom-up⁷ idea generation. Finally, our proprietary technology system, Aladdin, integrates fixed income risk analytics with a sophisticated trading platform that supports straight-through processing of investments.

3. WHICH IS THE FUND STRATEGY?

The fund seeks to take advantage of a market momentum when rates have risen sharply from the levels of the past 15 years through an approach characterised by low duration, which will typically be between -1 and +2, high quality bonds in the portfolio, and a flexible approach that will ensure lower volatility and the ability to take advantage of market mispricing opportunities by adding yield through relative value and other non-traditional bond strategies.

⁵The Investments of the Sub – Funds will comply with the following overall rating requirements: aggregate BBB exposure (BBB- to BBB+): maximum 35% of the Sub-Funds' net assets, overall Sub-Fund: rating A- or higher.

⁶Top-down investing is an investment analysis approach that focuses on the macro factors of the economy, such as GDP, employment, taxation, interest rates, etc. before examining micro factors such as specific sectors or companies.

⁷Bottom-up investing is an investment approach that focuses on analysing individual stocks and de-emphasises the significance of macroeconomic and market cycles. Bottom-up investors focus on a specific company and its fundamentals, whereas top-down investors focus on the industry and economy.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

- Convertible Contingent Bonds (Cocos) allow the Portfolio Manager to receive interest payments that are generally much higher than traditional bonds.
- High-yield bonds are corporate debt securities that generally pay higher interest rates than the bonds issued by Companies with higher credit score (Investment Grade). They play a diversification role in the portfolio and in certain economic framework they can help generate positive income.
- AMS and MBS can have higher risk than traditional bonds and they have a relatively low correlation with corporate bonds or the stock market.
- Hedging a position is usually done to protect or insure against the adverse price movement risk of an asset.
- Emerging Markets offer the potential for competitive returns over the long term, across a variety of countries and industries, and represent an important diversifier for investors.

RISKS

- Convertible Contingent Bonds (Cocos) are a form of contingent hybrid securities that behave like debt securities in normal circumstances but which either convert to equity securities or have write-down. A write-down means that some or all the principal amount of the (Cocos) bond will be written down.
- Certain high-yielding bonds are very speculative and involve comparatively greater risks than higher quality securities issued by higher quality Companies (Investment Grade bond). The securities ranked as high yield can have a higher incidence of default and they are less liquid in respect to Investment Grade bonds.
- Mortgage-Backed Securities (an investment that bundles of home loans and other real estate debt) and Asset-backed security (investment that is collateralised by an underlying pool of assets) are usually issued in a number of different classes depending on the riskiness of the underlying assets assessed. The higher the risk contained in the class, the more the asset-backed security pays by way of income.
- The Fund may invest in instruments, such as derivatives, that might not fulfil their obligations in the future, exposing the relevant sub-funds to financial losses in the process.
- Investments in bonds are subject to the risk that the issuer cannot meet their obligations in terms of paying the interest and / or redeeming the principal on maturity (credit risk).

- Emerging markets are less established than developed markets and therefore involve higher risks, particularly market, liquidity, currency risks and interest rate risks, and the risk of higher volatility.
- The value of investments in bonds and other debt securities or derivative instruments may rise or fall sharply as interest rates fluctuate.
- There is a risk that agreements, securities lending, repurchase agreements and derivatives techniques are terminated due, for instance, to bankruptcy. A sub-fund may be required to cover any losses incurred.
- In periods of market instability the Fund may be required to realise assets at a price that does not reflect their intrinsic value.
