GLOSSARY OF TECHNICAL TERMS

SFDR: Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation: Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 of the European Parliament and of the Council on sustainability-related disclosures in the financial services sector.

SRI: Summary Risk Indicator, a standardised risk indicator that takes into account both the volatility of a financial instrument (market risk) and the issuer's creditworthiness (credit risk).

UCITS: UCITS is the international term for undertakings for collective investment in transferable securities. UCITS or UCITS funds are investment funds that are subject to the strict requirements of an EU directive, primarily designed to protect investors.

GROWTH, VALUE AND BLEND STYLE: There are three different investment styles when it comes to funds: 1) Equity funds that adopt a Value style select well-established companies in the sector to which they belong. In most cases, they are large caps that have low debt and growth forecasts in sales, and dividends that are consistent over time. 2) Equity funds that use a Growth style select stocks in sectors with strong growth potential and companies that guarantee high profitability regardless of debt. Often these companies do not distribute dividends or, if they do, the payout ratio (or the number of dividends paid to shareholders) is very low compared to the company's net profits. 3) Blend style equity funds do not adopt a specific investment style (Growth or Value). In this case, the manager, depending on the market situation, can make a choice of style by taking a clear direction towards Growth or Value, but can also not choose by keeping the portfolio bar halfway between the two.
